starlight

© 2026 Frank B Crumbaugh III

God amazes me pretty much every day with a new revelation. Some days it's the stygian depth of human brokenness, and our near-limitless capacity for cruelty and self-deception. Other days the heights to which human selflessness and goodness can ascend takes my breath away. But it's something new almost every day. The Created Order is a chronic wow-machine in my life - everything from eel grass to Kodiak brown bears and cuttlefish, porcupine quills and geology, burr oaks, giant icebergs, migrating fish and birds, and heavy weather.... it all captivates me. One of the ways I recognize God's redemptive power in my life is simply awakening each morning like a curious 8-year-old, wondering what He has in mind for me to know that day.

I am grateful for the opportunity Creation provides to make connections - the capacity we have for discerning how things relate one to another. Everything we know right now is connected somehow or other to everything else; making those connections goes beyond the momentary "Wow!" to link seemingly disparate times, places and people in a single coherent whole.

The last night I was looking at the Harvest Moon, and my reverie easily led to quiet contemplation of the starry night sky. Such reflection demonstrates the reality that starlight is history being physically manifested as we watch it. When one sees starlight, one is quite literally observing the past rushing into the present at light speed. Suppose the star I wished upon the last night is 100 light-years away (about 586,569,600,000,000 [$>586\frac{1}{2}$ trillion] miles.... that's next door in cosmic terms, especially when we realize that we've observed objects at a distance of 13.3 billion light years- an incomprehensible mileage whose numeral requires more zeros than can be printed in this typeface on this page¹). Though its source is just next door, the light that I saw left the surface of that star in 1926 at 186,000 miles per second and didn't become available to the retina of my eye until a few hours ago. And when I saw it, I was looking back down a beam of light trillions of miles in length, seeing in real time and all at once, 100 years - all of mine among them.

Such are the connections that our hearts can make in cosmic terms. Connections also come to us in less vast contexts. Though not astronomical in size, I equate certain tools and possessions with starlight. Nearly none of my hand tools are new. They're old, and just as starlight carries in a single observation the cosmic past into the immediate present, so an old tool carries the lives of several other people into my life every time I pick it up. My 2" chisel belonged to Gretchen's great grandfather; it was made in Milbury, Massachusetts in 1870. It is as dangerously sharp and effective now as it was when it first came to Norman Densmore's hand more than 150 years ago. My oldest jack plane was my Father's from before I was born; he bought it when he and my Mother were first married, he sharpened and used it for decades until with all his tools it came to me at his death. I remember the moment my favorite block plane came to hand - a Stanley N° 102 contained in a heavy fitted cardboard box solemnly presented to me by Daddy when I was 7. While not light years in length, the starlight in my toolbox comes to me instantly, across several generations. Talk about connections....

How we connect with one another is as varied and marvelously unique as we ourselves are. To anyone else, my block plane is an old tool and nothing more. To me, it is a moment when my Father conferred respect, affection and hope upon me while a young boy.... values that helped form the man writing this to you now. So important is that tool intrinsically, and so vastly more important is it to me spiritually, that from among a hundred other Stanley N° 102s, I'm certain I could locate mine.

The air is cooling and the days are shortening. In the weakening light of Autumn, the Created Order as well as our personal circumstances and possessions offer us a lovely moment in which to inventory and value the connections of our lives.... what do we see/know now that is a connection of profound importance to "all that has been?" The ancient sugar bowl in the cupboard connects me to my Mother's childhood aboard an Army Corps of Engineers steamboat. The laughter of my daughter as a middle-aged woman reminds me of her as a chortling toddler. The cork grip of the fly rod recalls the grandfather who trusted and esteemed me enough as a boy to give me a piece of man's gear, and the heft of an ancient fowling piece draws me closer to the ancestors who hunted with it before I did. The flash in her eyes and the timbre of her voice strengthen every day my connection with the woman with whom I have kept covenant for more than four decades. There are myriad ways to see and make the connections that seamlessly join our present, past and future. For some it takes courage to parse those connections, seeing truthfully and valuing as generously as we can each. For others it is an habitual happy exercise that strengthens and grows each day. However they come to you, I pray that in the days ahead, you will renew your connections.... the starlight in your life.

For all that has been, Thanks. For all that will be, Yes.

ADVENT STUDY

Nov 29th through Dec 20th

Sunday morning from 11:30 a.m. until 12:15 p.m.

Enter into the sacred rhythm of Advent through the voices of the four evangelists: Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. Each week offers a deep exploration of one gospel writer's perspective on the coming of Christ, weaving together scripture, reflection, prayer, and action. The structure encourages a holistic Advent spirituality—waiting, watching, repenting, and rejoicing—guided by Jesus's disciples and friends. Includes questions for individual reflection and small group study.

Beloved of God:

There is a spiritual nature that frames our greatest civil freedom - the franchise. The privilege of voting is sacred, and a fair analogy says that voting is to citizenship in this great Republic what corporate worship is to membership in Christ's One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic Church. It's that important.

Our exercise of the franchise expresses not only a legally defined privilege but also a scripturally defined condition - Free Will. Our Free Will is not what we do, it is the framework of who we are. When we express our Free Will in the polling place, who we are is expressed in what we do. Who we are at the polls includes our Christian Faith, and our beliefs inform our behavior. And they should. We have Free Will, a choice. In our frustration or despair or laziness, we may think we can excuse ourselves and salve our discomfort by saying that choosing not to vote is in fact a choice. It's not. Choosing not to choose is a lame excuse. It provides a result by default, and while you get to say you aren't responsible for the election of persons you find distasteful, the truth is you squander the dearest privilege your citizenship bestows. The first judgment conscience makes of us has not to do with how we voted but with whether or not we voted. It is the second judgment of conscience that examines the wisdom of any particular choice.

Among our prayers each week are what liturgical jargon calls "The State Prayers" - those phrases in the liturgy originally praying for the Sovereign and the members of the Royal Family and modified in the American prayer book to pray for those in authority, and for the welfare of the civil body politic. We join our citizenship to our Faith every time we gather and say our prayers, and we join our Faith to our citizenship every time we vote.

The day is coming. The statute says that we undertake this sacred obligation on the Tuesday immediately following the first Monday in November; this year it falls on 3 November. I make no appeal now, nor have I ever, for those for whom you will vote. However, I exhort you urgently as a fellow Christian and a fellow American to vote.... as a person with Free Will rooted in Faith, make a choice.

Voting has a grave solemnity to be sure, but it's not without its lighter side. Please remember that we exercise the freedom to say what we think with our ballots, and we enjoy a corollary privilege in being able to say what we think about the political process itself, even if the commentary is at times a joke. Humor is funny because it is true. We laugh at a joke because we recognize something. Sometimes that recognition brings a doleful chuckle and a slowly wagged head, and sometimes it brings a belly laugh. In any case, we are brought to laughter as well as tears by the Truth. In a lighter, less reverent and more hopeful vein, say your prayers and then vote remembering:

Unmitigated seriousness betokens a lack of virtue. - Aquinas

Giving money and power to government is like giving whisky and car keys to teenage boys. - P.J. O'Rourke

No man's life, liberty, or property are safe while the legislature is in session. - Mark Twain

Nothing is so admirable in politics as a short memory. - John K. Galbreath

One fifth of the people are against everything all the time. - Robert F. Kennedy

If a million people believe a foolish thing, it is still a foolish thing. - François-Anatole Thibault

Talk is cheap, except when legislators do it. - Will Rogers

Vote early and vote often. - Al Capone

For all that has been, Thanks. For all that will be, Yes.

A WORD FROM OUR SENIOR WARDEN

Lois Vanderbok, Sr Warden

The Vestry held a special meeting on October 12, 2026 to begin the development of a timeline for the search process for our new Rector. The Vestry then met on its regular day, October 19, 2026 and heard the summary of results from the small group sessions held in September and early October. As a result of these meetings and discussions, the Vestry has approved the following timeline for the search process.

Proposed Timeline

November-December 2026

- Identify potential Search Committee members
- Clarify diocesan expectations and procedures

January-February 2027

- Appoint Search Committee
- Finalize committee charge and responsibilities

February-March 2027

- Develop parish profile
- Prepare search materials

March-April 2027

- Publish rector position

May 2027 and Beyond

- Conduct interviews and discernment process

Target Start Date for New Rector: September 2027 (providing candidates are identified)

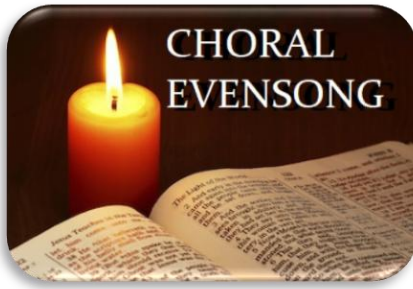

The Vestry is encouraged that we will have the cooperation of Bishop Brown, Diocese of Delaware, and his Canon to the Ordinary in our process.

We all hope that this relieves any anxiety parish members may be feeling. Fr. Frank is committed to staying with us which, on its own, is an incredible blessing! Please contact any of the Vestry members with any questions you may have.

Many thanks to Family Ministry Coordinator, Alesia Grier, for spearheading another amazing Trunk or Treat! All of the families seemed to have a wonderful time on a truly beautiful day. Thank you to the United Communities Volunteer Fire Company for bringing one of their trucks and letting all of the kids check it out. We also had a representative of the Queen Anne's County Sherriff's department, their Drug Prevention representative, Boy Scout Troop 1631, our own Day School, the Hoffman family for the bounce house and, of course, all of the parishioners who came out with a decorated trunk and tons of candy! If you missed it, plan to be with us next year for a Happy Halloween.

Plan on being with us for a special Veterans Day Evensong, Sunday, November 8, at 5:00 pm. This beautiful service honors all of those who have served our country.

Evensong for Veterans Day

Plan to join us on Sunday, November 8th at 5 p.m. for a Choral Evensong for Veterans Day.

Choral Evensong is one of the most cherished treasures of the Anglican tradition, dating back to the English Reformation. In 1549, Archbishop Thomas Cranmer fused the ancient monastic evening offices of Vespers and Compline into a single, beautiful service for the Book of Common Prayer.

This brief, sung service combines prayers and Psalms with congregational hymns, offering a distinctly Anglican tradition that is the perfect way to end your day and set the tone for a peaceful night.

Congratulations to Alesia Grier, Family Ministry Coordinator!

Alesia Grier has been elected to the Queen Anne's Advocates for Youth Board of Directors and served at her first meeting on October 19, 2026. Queen Anne's Advocates for Youth is a 501 © (3) organized and operated exclusively for educational and charitable purposes for the Youth of Queen Anne's County.

Alesia also serves on the board of The Children's Home Foundation of the Episcopal Diocese of Easton. The Children's Home Foundation provides educational funding, Camp Wright Scholarships, and funding for Mission trips through an application process.

We are so fortunate to have our Family Ministry leader actively involved in our community as well as serving our parish youth and families. Alesia exemplifies what it means to be the hands of Jesus in this world.

We are so grateful to Linda and Fred Klingensmith for their wonderful ministry hosting the coffee hour after the 10:00 a.m. service on Sundays. It is truly a time for fellowship and delicious food. It is also a lot of work for two people, and we could use your help particularly with cleaning up. Please contact Linda and Fred at fklingensmith@hotmail.com or speak to them on Sundays.

Stewardship Update

Today is October 29, 2026, and we have received 43 pledges for $164,986 to support our ministries and operations in 2027. We are better than halfway to our $300,000 goal! By the time you are reading this, our numbers will have increased, and I am grateful for each and every pledge. Thank you!

We have much to be grateful for because God has blessed us abundantly. Our Family Ministry is growing with love and joy; our music ministry delights us every Sunday, often with something new and interesting; our worship services are reverent, joyous, and meaningful; and our outreach programs bring us together and change lives. We share our abundance with our community through events like Trunk or Treat and Holiday concerts. We are well and truly blessed and our pledges make the magic happen. Thank you!

If you haven't yet made your pledge, please understand that your pledge is an estimate of what you would like to give to the Church. If your circumstances change, you are always able to adjust your planned giving as needed.

Also, plan on celebrating our successful stewardship season by joining us for brunch immediately following the 10:00 a.m. service on November 15th. We will have sandwich fixings. We are counting on you for side dishes, crock pot fare, salads and desserts.

If you have any questions, please feel welcome to contact Molly Cannon at 410-991-6752 or mollycannon@yahoo.com.

Diocese Discernment Committee Update

EASTON: This week the Committee met in person to discuss the results of the Diocese of Easton's Discernment Information Days, and we were thrilled to welcome the Rev. Dr. Darcy Williams, President of the Standing Committee, to our meeting.

Overall, I believe the education effort was a major success in that over 1,000 parishioners in the diocese participated. All but two of the 39 parishes and missions in the diocese participated in showing the video and responding to the questionnaire. For CCPKI, I filled out the questionnaire with the comments made during our session on October 4th where close to 50 folks watched the video and asked questions. Recall the 5 questions were basic...what did you learn from the video? What surprised you? What was missing? What recommendations for the diocese would you make!

As you can imagine the responses were as different as Kent Island and Pocomoke City. Most folks were surprised at the number of small parishes (under 25 ASA), the actual decline in the number of parishioners (since 2015, national membership has declined from nearly 2 million to 1.4 million), and the amount of money being spent on maintaining old buildings. Some didn't understand why the diocese is going through discernment and wanted to elect a new Bishop immediately and others wanted the process to slow down.

Speaking of Bishops, we discussed the upcoming election of Delaware's Bishop Kevin Brown as the Provisional Bishop for the Diocese of Easton at the upcoming February 2027 convention. There was unanimous support and actual excitement for the election and subsequent leadership of Provisional Bishop Brown. We recognized the concerns of parishioners within the Diocese of Delaware about losing or sharing their Bishop and again acknowledge that this action does not mean Easton is merging with the Delaware Diocese. We are simply blessed to have Bishop Brown lead us while we determine our future. With strong support from Presiding Bishop Rowe and his staff, I believe the course that has been set for the next 2-3 years will provide the Diocese of Easton with the time it needs to discern its future.

I am encouraged and thank you for your interest in the future of the Diocese of Easton.

Blessings,

Jeffrey R. Pike

As the seasons change, we are turning our hearts toward thankfulness! Throughout November, we will celebrate Gratitude Month, with our Children's and Youth Ministries focusing on cultivating hearts of thanksgiving, service, and generosity.

Over the next four weeks, our children and youth will explore what it means to give thanks to God in all circumstances and discover meaningful ways to show kindness to their family, friends, and neighbors.

Through our lessons, conversations, and activities, we hope to encourage our young people to recognize their many blessings and understand that gratitude is more than something we say it is something we live out every day.

We are excited to grow together in faith and to see our children and youth put their gratitude into action!

This November, our Youth Group will have an exciting opportunity to put gratitude and generosity into practice by serving families in need right here in our local community!

Serving on the altar is a very special joy and privilege. We would love to share that with you in our worship services.

Christ Episcopal Church Day School

We have been joyfully celebrating all things fall at CECDS. The children have delighted in exploring the season—collecting colorful leaves around the school, participating in our apple market, creating Fall themed art, and using pumpkins for science experiments. Our classrooms and playground have been filled with the sights and sounds of autumn fun, from pretend spiders hanging in the trees to excited conversations about pumpkins and leaves. A special highlight of the month was the visit from the Kent Island Volunteer Fire Department, who brought a fire truck and shared valuable lessons about fire safety. We concluded October with our annual Harvest Fest, made extra special through the generous support of our PTO and parent volunteers.

In November, we will honor our veterans on the 11th with a visit from Tech Sergeant May, who will lead us in singing the National Anthem. Our Friendsgiving celebration will take place on Wednesday, November 18th, followed by Parent-Teacher Conferences on Friday, November 20th.

Looking ahead, priority registration for the 2027–2028 school year will begin on December 7th. Priority enrollment will be offered to church members, CECDS alumni, and returning students. For additional information about our program, please visit www.cecds.org

Scout Troop 1631

Scout Troop 1631 has been busy welcoming new faces and spreading the spirit of Scouting throughout the community!

Our recent Recruitment Night was a tremendous success, with an amazing turnout of Cub Scout Arrow of Lights and boys interested in trying Scouting for the first time. It was exciting to see so much enthusiasm as future Scouts learned about the adventures, friendships, leadership opportunities, and outdoor fun that await them!

Troop 1631 also joined in the Halloween festivities at Christ Church Kent Island's Trunk or Treat! Our Scouts had a wonderful time handing out candy, greeting trick-or-treaters, and sharing what makes Scouting so special. It was fun watching them connect with future scouts and their families, talking about the importance of Scouting, and highlighting all the exciting activities and adventures Scouts get to experience.

Children's Chime Choir

Our Church Music Ministry is excited to explore the launch of a new Children's Chime Choir in January 2027 for students in grades 3–8.

Brief rehearsals will be held every other week, most likely on Thursday evenings, concurrent with Handbell Choir Rehearsal.

Who Should Join? This ensemble is designed for children who have at least some basic musical background (e.g., playing an instrument in school or taking private piano lessons). Perfect participants will have a desire to work hard during rehearsals, read music notation, and learn basic music theory.

If your child is interested in being a part of this exciting new ministry, please reach out to Gary Van Essen at music@ccpki.org.

Note: High schoolers with music experience are invited to join our Handbell Choir! Contact Gary for more details.

The Maryland State Boychoir is Almost Here!

The countdown is on – Just days until the Boychoir Concert!

On Thursday, November 12th at 7:30 p.m., Christ Church will come alive with the breathtaking sounds of the Maryland State Boychoir's elite Tour Choir. While they have joined us for Sunday worship in the past, this is their first-ever full-length at our Church.

Having toured the globe and performed on legendary stages like the Kennedy Center and the National Cathedral, this premier ensemble is ready to deliver an unforgettable evening. They will perform a vibrant, high-energy mix of sacred, spiritual, and pop music. Admission is completely free and open to the public, so grab a neighbor, invite a friend, and arrive early to secure your seats! A free-will offering will be received to support the choir. Don't miss it!
